THE TABERNACLE MEETING.

Religious Movement Launched Last Week Gives Promise of Being Record-Breaker.

It has been a long time since a religious movement in this city and county has attracted so much attention in so short a space of time as has the revival services inaugurated here in a specially designed and constructed tabernacle by the Rev. Mordecai Hamm and his corps of assistants.

Rev. Mr. Hamm, who is a noted revivalist and has conducted numerous successful meetings all over the country, came to Paris practically unknown, save for what was known in an indirect way of his work along religious lines.

The immense tabernacle on Seventh Street, in the rear of the residence of Mrs. Russell Mann, was built entirely by volunteer labor under the personal supervision of Mr. Baumgartel one of Mr. Hamm's aides, and is estimated to have a seating capacity of four thousand. The building is well illuminated and ventilated and its acoustic properties all that could be desired.

Rev. Hamm's "style" seems to one peculiarly his own, but one that carries a conviction of the great earnestness of the man behind it. He has a well-modulated voice of great carrying power, and can be distinctly heard all over the auditorium.

The nightly services have been well attended from the initial meeting, and the crowds seem to increase nightly, until last night the big building was filled to its utmost. They came on foot and in all manner of conveyances, and seemed to be glad that they were there.

The choir, made up of three hundred trained voices, culled from the best available musical talent of all the denominational churches of the city and county, under the personal direction of Mr. Ramsey, the chorister of the organization, is a splendid musical body, and filled the big auditorium with a large volume of vocal music.

On Thursday night of this week Mr. Hamm will deliver another "plain talk" to the men only at the Tabernacle. At the big meeting Sunday afternoon the question was put to the audience by Rev. Hamm, and by a practically unanimous vote it was decided to have the evangelist deliver the second "plain talk" series on Thursday night.

ODD FELLOWS' DAY AT COLUMBIA THEATRE.

Tuesday, Oct. 6, will be Odd Fellows' Day in Bourbon.

On the above date there will be displayed at the Columbia Theatre 1,000 feet of film, showing main building and grounds of the Odd Fellows' Widows and Orphans Home, located at Lexington. All the 125 children are seen; boys at work in garden and farm; children at play and at school; in fact the entire Home in motion for 24 hours.

Every cent above the expenses of showing the films goes toward putting in an industrial plant at the Home, so as to more completely fit the boys and girls for the battle of life when they leave the Home.

Every Odd Fellow in Bourbon should get their shoulders to the wheel and make this banner Odd Fellows Day in Kentucky for this year. For further particulars see Judge E. B. January.

RESUMES OLD SCHEDULE.

Beginning Sunday morning at 7:15 o'clock, the city car will resume the old schedule. The car will start on the North side of the Court House, on Bank Row, and will run to the intersection of the Hume & Bedford and Bethlehem pikes, at McGinnis' store. The same fare, 5 cents, will continue in effect. The above schedule will not be maintained on the regular interurban cars, the five cent fare applying to points only in the city limits, which end at the Clintonville pike, on the through-to-Lexington cars.

For the past several months the city car has run only to the Clintonville pike and back to the interurban station on High Street. This arrangement proved quite an inconvenience to the people in South Paris, owing to the fact that the original schedule of the city car made the starting point from the rear of the Court House and out to the Bethlehem pike on the five cent fare, and the people had become so accustomed to this arrangement that many homes were built in the suburbs on the strength of the five cent car fare.

The return to the old schedule was made possible after a conference in Paris Friday between City Attorney W. H. Whitley and Mr. J. D. Sallee, of Lexington, General Freight Agent and Superintendent of other cities for the Bluegrass Traction Company.

LOCAL HORSE WINS.

Sheriff Will Talbott was a visitor at the State Fair in Louisville, Tuesday, where he saw his splendid mare, Nancy Baldwin, win her race. Nancy Baldwin is showing exceptional speed this year. She is by Egyptian Baron, dam by Nutbreaker.

Mr. Douglas Thomas won another trotting race at Louisville, Thursday, and was third in another. The race won by Mr. Thomas was a $500 purse with King Todd, and was third with Nancy McGregor in the $1,000 stake. The heats were trotted around 2:13 1/4.

THREE-STORY BUILDING IN RICHMOND COLLAPSES.

The large building in Richmond, known as the Masonic Temple, collapsed Saturday morning about 8:30 o'clock. The building was a three-story one. The lower floors were occupied by the R. C. H. Covington Company, clothing and men's furnishings, while the second floor was used for the fraternity and a dance hall, while the lodge rooms were located on the third floor. It is not known what caused the collapse of the building, as it was remodeled and modernized about five years ago. It was located on Main street on the most frequented corner of the city, and it seems almost a miracle that none of the employees were hurt, as the building is now a wreck.

The crash caused much excitement and was heard several blocks away. The building was valued at about $15,000 and owned by the Masonic order. The damage to it will possibly be from $8,000 to $10,000. The Covington Company carried a stock valued at $25,000, all of which is more or less damaged. The clothing company leased the large rooms in the new Clay building and began moving its stock, while the owners of the building set about to repair it.

ASSASSINATED BY "BOOTLEGGERS."

Robert T. Thurman, a policeman of Glasgow, was murdered between 12 and 1 o'clock Saturday morning on West Main Street, and one-half block from the Court Square.

More than one year ago "bootlegging" became so open in Glasgow that something had to be done. Accordingly, the City Council of Glasgow, headed by the Mayor, met and employed Mr. Thurman, with the understanding that he would try to arrest every violator of the law. He was a stranger there, and therefore could have no favorites, and within a few weeks he had arrested and convicted twenty-five persons.

This, of course, made him many enemies, and the threats were frequently heard that they would kill him. Interested persons offered him large sums of money to leave, but these he refused and stayed at his post of duty.

NEGRO KILLED BY TRAIN.

Will Moore, colored, employed as a section hand on the L. & N. railroad, was run over and killed near Gertra Station, on the Winchester branch early Friday morning.

Moore came to Paris early Thursday evening on a hand car, and was told by his foreman, who accompanied him, to be sure to return to Escondido by 9:30 that night.

Nothing was heard of him until early Friday morning when a track-walker found his mangled remains scattered along the track near Gertra Station.

Coroner Davis was notified, and had the remains brought to the undertaking establishment of Geo. W. Davis, where they are being held while inquiry is being made as to his relatives, who are said to live in Louisville.

REFLECT BEFORE YOU VOTE.

PARIS, KY., Sept. 21.

Editor Bourbon News:—

While in Lexington, Sunday, I met an old friend, who is a pronounced Prohibitionist and he asked me what was Bourbon going to do in the election on the 28th. I told him that from the present outlook it seemed to me that she was going to vote to keep Bourbon County money at home. I further told him that it was a well-known fact that the merchants of Lexington were trying to secure the entire trade of all the surrounding towns, and in fact had already secured the cream of the trade of Paris, Georgetown, Nicholasville, Versailles and the intermediate territory between these towns.

I told him that it was well known that the merchants of Lexington were furnishing financial assistance to the "dry" leaders in Paris in an effort to vote Paris dry, and his answer was: "Well, that's business." As he said, it certainly is business. But it is also "business," and business of far more importance, that Bourbon County money should be spent at home. The business man who votes "dry" has no excuse in the world for complaining about hard times if he himself votes to make it so.

OLD BOURBON.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The County Board of Education met in the office of Miss Robbins, County School Superintendent, Saturday morning and let the contract for the erection of an addition to the colored schoolhouse at Little Rock, to be used as a training school department, this school having received $500 from a fund left by a wealthy white Southern woman, Mrs. Jeannes, for the establishment of this work in various Southern States.

James Ayers was appointed by the Board to fill a vacancy in the primary department of the school at North Middletown.

BANKER JOE HEAD INDICTED.

The Ashland grand jury Saturday afternoon returned seventeen indictments against Joe S. Head, Jr., cashier of the Citizens' Bank and Trust Company, which recently closed on orders of the State banking officials. One indictment charges perjury, eight charges that Head made false entries, and eight alleged embezzlements. The amount alleged to have been embezzled is $38,692.55.

DEATHS.

GLENN.

A message was received here Saturday morning announcing the death of Mrs. Nannie Tribble Glenn, which occurred in Fulton, Mo., Friday night. Mrs. Glenn was a sister of Mr. Lon M. Tribble, of this city, who was summoned to her bedside last Sunday, and remained with her until the end came. Mrs. Glenn was a native of Carlisle, where she resided before her marriage. She was a daughter of Mrs. Martha Tribble, of Carlisle.

Mrs. Glenn is survived by her husband, Mr. W. E. Glenn, and a four-year-old son. Also by her mother, one sister, Mrs. Oscar Hamm, of Carlisle, and two brothers, Mr. Jos. Tribble, and Mr. Lon M. Tribble, of Paris. She has been in declining health for two years, and had spent one winter in New Mexico, and one in Texas, in a vain search for health.

The burial will take place in Fulton.

FOOTE.

After an illness of several months, following years of suffering from Bright's disease, Mr. Charles W. Foote, one of the best-known citizens of this city, died at his home on Stoner Avenue, Saturday afternoon at four o'clock.

Mr. Foote had been in declining health for a number of years, but had always been able to be up and attending to the duties of his boat landing and poultry interests, which took up all of his time. He was a home lover in every sense of the word, and had for some time led a rather secluded life in the quiet of his home. He was an ardent sportsman, and being of a jovial disposition was one of the most companionable of men.

Mr. Foote was an accomplished violinist, and in his younger days was the leader of an orchestra composed of the best musical talent in this city. Their services were in constant demand, especially at the old-time dances, and there's many a sad heart in Paris to-day among those who remember the pleasure they experienced in dancing the hours away to the witching strains of Mr. Foote's violin.

There are others who did not know him in this capacity but who remember with pleasure the jolly fishing trips in which Mr. Foote was the life of the party. He always had a fund of good stories, and his hearty laugh was infectious. He was quite unassuming, but a good friend and a lover of nature, and whatever faults he had these virtues are sufficient to offset them.

Mr. Foote was 69 years old last May. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Laura Foote, one daughter, Miss Ettavieve Foote, of Paris, one son, Mr. Elmer Foote, of Lexington, and two step-sons, Mr. Willard Hutchinson and Mr. Ewd. Hutchinson, both of Lexington.

The funeral took place from the family residence on Stoner Avenue, yesterday afternoon, at three o'clock. Elder W. E. Ellis, of the Christian Church, conducted the services, and the burial followed in the Paris cemetery. The following friends and neighbors were pall-bearers: W. M. Goodloe, Harry Kerslake, F. P. Lowry, Dr. M. H. Dalley, Strother Paynter and E. B. Hedges.

MATRIMONIAL.

MARTIN-RITCHIE.

Miss Hettie D. Ritchie and Mr. Gilbert Martin, both of this county, were married at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Henry S. Ritchie, near Hutchinson, by Rev. J. J. Dickey.

MIDDLETON-BEEKER.

Mr. Jesse R. Middleton and Miss Katherine Beeker came to Paris from Fayette County, Saturday, secured a marriage license from County Clerk Pearce Paton, and were married by Judge C. A. McMillan.

BIRTHS.

Born, on last Friday morning, to the wife of Mr. Edward Peele, of Tucson, Arizona, formerly Miss Josie Gardner, of Paris, a daughter. The little one has been christened Eleanor Jane, in honor of Mrs. Peele's foster mother, Mrs. Ella S. Isgrigg, and Miss Janie Marsh, both of Paris.

Only the "Wets" vote Saturday. If you are "Dry" be sure and vote Monday.

DEAN LEE SAYS "PROHIBITION A MENACE."

Dean Baker P. Lee, former pastor of Christ Church in Lexington, and one of the most popular ministers in Kentucky, during his residence here, but who is now located in California, in a lengthy article in the Sunday Lexington papers, says, in part:

"Prohibition is a menace to the civil and religious liberty of the American people. It is un-American, intemperate, non-scriptural, and un-Christian. If this statement can be proven, then every honest-minded voter in the State of California should rally around the polls at the coming election in November, and by an avalanche of ballots, so overwhelmingly defeat this wolf in sheep's clothing as to effectually silence the bleating of this lamb and growl of this wolf for many years to come." Being unable to see all my friends and customers, I take this method of communication. As a direct result of the European conflict, nearly all the staple food stuffs have made sensational advances during the past month. Flour, Meat, Lard, Sugar, Coffee, etc., have all advanced and will probably go much higher.

The terms which the dealers now get from packers and jobbers are becoming more stringent, to carry customers for thirty days or longer and to allow for bad debts would make it necessary to tie up a great deal of capital in the business, and as this advancement in prices has also caused a stringency in the money market, it makes it impossible to do business on the old basis. Owing to said conditions I have decided to put our business on

EARLY WAR NEWS.

GERMANY PAVING WAY FOR PARLEY.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Germany has suggested informally that the United States should undertake to elicit from Great Britain, France and Russia a statement of the terms under which the allies would make peace.

The suggestion was made by the Imperial Chancellor, Von Bethmann-Hollweg, to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, as a result of an inquiry sent by the American Government to learn whether Emperor William was desirous of discussing peace, as Count Von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, and Oscar Straus recently had reported.

No reply was made by Emperor William himself nor did the Imperial Chancellor indicate whether or not he spoke on behalf of his monarch. Ambassador Gerard cabled President Wilson the Chancellor's remarks from recollection, which was substantially as follows:

"Germany was appreciative of the American Government's interest and offer of services in trying to make peace. Germany did not want war, but had it forced on her. Even if she defeats France, she must likewise vanish Great Britain and Russia, as all three have made an agreement not to make peace except by common consent.

"Similarly, England has announced through Premier Asquith and her diplomatists and newspapers that she intended to fight to the limit of her endurance. In view of that determination on the part of Great Britain, the United States ought to get proposals of peace from the allies.

"Germany could accept only a lasting peace, one that would make her people secure against future attacks. To accept mediation now would be interpreted by the allies as a sign of weakness on the part of Germany and would be misunderstood by the German people, who, having made great sacrifices, had the right to demand guarantees of security."

The above is all that Ambassador Gerard communicated as to his conversation. He added only the brief comment that he, himself, thought the way might possibly be opened to mediation.

President Wilson referred to the Chancellor's conversation as non-committal and incidental to the acknowledgment of the American Government's inquiry. The President indicated that he rather expected a reply to the inquiry to be sent eventually from the Emperor himself, though he realized that the Imperial Chancellor may have consulted his monarch by telegraph before talking informally with the American Ambassador.

President Wilson took no action as a result of the message, waiting to hear from Ambassador Gerard whether anything of a more formal character could be obtained by him which the United States might communicate to Great Britain, France and Russia. It was understood that neither the British or French Ambassadors, who are in Washington, were informed officially or unofficially by Secretary Bryan of the conversation between the Imperial German Chancellor and Ambassador Gerard.

WILSON SEES LITTLE HOPE FOR PEACE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—President Wilson sees little prospect of peace in Europe reflected in the unofficial exchanges which American Ambassadors have been conducting with Germany, Great Britain, France and Russia.

This was learned to-day at the White House following a careful study of the message which Ambassador Gerard cabled giving his recollections of an informal conversation with the Imperial German Chancellor.

Until something more tangible and more definite in the way of overtures comes from the belligerents the President feels that his hands are virtually tied.

PRESIDENT TELLS WOMEN HE WILL LOSE NO OPPORTUNITY TO TAKE PRACTICAL STEPS TO END THE WAR.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—President Wilson to-day received an appeal from women of all nations that he head a movement to end the European war.

It was carried to the White House by Mrs. Rosika Schwimmer, of Hungary, Secretary of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance, who was presented by Senator Thomas.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt accompanied Mrs. Schwimmer.

The total of those for whom the appeal was made was not less than 1,000,000 women of thirteen countries. "The President told me he was thinking day and night about the possibility of peace in Europe," declared Mrs. Schwimmer after her interview with Mr. Wilson. "He seemed to be deeply interested in the movement and said that he would lose no opportunity of taking practical steps to end the war."

President Wilson was to-day requested by a delegation, representing the General Conference of Friends to initiate plans for the calling of a meeting of the nations for the formation of a world parliament for settlement of the war.

WILSON REFUSES TO RECEIVE PROTEST OF GERMAN-AMERICAN SOCIETY.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—President Wilson to-day declined to receive Horace L. Brand, of Chicago, who came to present messages from several German-American organizations protesting against the charges of atrocities made by the Belgian commission against the German armies. The President took the position that he had already refused to permit natives of other belligerent countries living in the United States to discuss the war with him and that the messages of the German-Americans were not of the same nature as those brought by the Belgian commissioners. He planned to write a letter to Mr. Brand explaining that his recent statement on neutrality addressed to the American people should apply equally to all living in America.

The President is understood to be deeply disappointed over what he feels is disregard of his neutrality statement. He is determined to check, as far as possible, continued efforts of natives of European countries living in America to take sides on the question. He does not believe such citizens should publicly take sides.

KING GEORGE BELLIGERENT.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Parliament was prorogued to-day until October 27. In his speech from the throne King George said that England is fighting for a worthy purpose and that England will not lay down their arms until its purpose has been fully achieved.

SHIP AND CREW SINK.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—12:30 a. m.—The Admiralty announces that the training ship Fishguard II, formerly the battle ship Erebus, foundered during a gale in the English Channel, and that twenty-one members of her crew were drowned.

WILSON REPLIES TO PROTEST OF KAISER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—President Wilson to-day replied to the message recently received from Emperor William protesting against the alleged use by the allied armies of dum-dum bullets. He said that he had read the communication with the gravest concern, but that it would be unwise and premature for the United States to express any final judgment in the controversy.

The message was almost identical with the speech made by the President to the Belgian commission which protested against alleged German atrocities.

A cablegram replying to the protest of President Poincare of France, who charged that the Germans were using dum-dum bullets was also prepared.

It was not made public, but was known to follow closely the text of the President's message to Emperor William.

LABOR POORLY PAID

Unskilled Men Get Small Pay in South America.

Women Fare Still Worse as Few Occupations Are Open to Them and Wages Are Extremely Poor—Nearly All Illiterate.

Entre Rios, Argentine, S. A.—Some time ago a young Brazilian attending the University of Illinois told me that in many portions of his country four-fifths of the people could neither read nor write. One finds this state of things throughout South America, though in some countries, like Uruguay, the percentage of illiterate is not so great. The women are scarcely schooled at all. Women in South America are far down on life's scale, among the cheap things of no importance. They are so regarded by the men and so regard themselves, says Katherine Reynolds in Chicago News. Truly the poor opinion that these women have of themselves almost takes one's breath away.

Not long ago I was talking to my cook. She is a native of Uruguay, and unlike the vast majority of domestics can read and write. One day I found her plowing her way through "Don Quixote." That interested me and we talked. I found her exceptionally bright and of a thoughtful turn of mind. I drew her on and was surprised to hear her express very sane ideas on South American politics and economic conditions. The girl is an indifferent cook, but she would make a splendid teacher of political economy.

She gave me much interesting information and told me many significant anecdotes bearing on the life of these people. But what astounded me was her closing remark.

"That, senora," she said, "is only what I think and know and is of course of no importance whatever, for I am most certainly only a woman, not a patriot. And a woman cannot, of course, know anything of these things." So it seems that only men are patriots here. National patriotic holidays are not women's holidays. Woman suffrage is in these lands only a faint, ridiculous sort of far off echo. Indeed, if you mentioned it even the women would look at you with a smile of pity for your idiocy in even dreaming that such a thing could be.

In all these countries the top layer of society is overeducated. This social cream, taking much of its style and temper and education from England, apes English aristocracy and scorns work. The young South American is, as a rule, sickeningly effeminate. The girls, overeducated, overruled, aping the costumes of a Parisienne, are very often startling looking creatures to American eyes. They, too, are fitted only for society, and know as yet no way in which to earn a living. The masses have as yet only the crudest sort of industrial education.

There are trades here for men and in the cities one finds fairly competent masons, carpenters and all other artisans working under an eight-hour law. But outside of the cities you see less skilled men and the wholly unskilled peon working from sunrise to sunset. Here there is no eight-hour law. Toll for these men begins with the first faint streak of dawn and lasts into dim twilight. And for this they are paid 15 cents an hour in our money.

So when you go to a grocery store and discover that crude, dirty granulated sugar is 11 cents a pound and a small bar of cheap toilet soap, the three for a quarter kind at home, costs these people 80 cents and that coal is $15, gold, a ton, and seven-cent call-co 35 cents a yard you wonder how they live at all.

The only cheap thing in the Argentine republic is meat—beef and mutton. Pork, ham and bacon cost very nearly their weight in gold and are the greater part of the year impossible to get. And when you do get the native pork you usually throw it away. It is badly cured, spoiled in part and horribly specked with garlic. The beef and mutton are really dear if you consider their poor quality, the careless cutting and filthy delivery. You pay 35 cents paper (an Argentine dollar is 44 cents in our money) for a kilo—which is about two and a fifth pounds.

You cannot order a sirloin or porterhouse steak or a proper roast because butchering here is an unknown art. The animal is hacked up in any weird fashion and you get merely nameless chunks of meat. Such a chunk is impaled every morning on a sort of a big wire safety pin and carried without a scrap of paper about it through the hot, dusty streets. Sometimes the delivery boy playfully drops it into the filthy dust and hands it to you smothered in dirt. Every time the meat man comes you just naturally look around for the dog.

The animal whose flesh you are forced to buy is probably killed the night before or that very same morning. When you come to this bit of knowledge you no longer wonder that the meat is tough and flavorless and you know, too, why so many of these meat eating natives have stomach trouble.

If life in these places is hard for men it is a thousand times more so for the women. There are at the present time only a few occupations open to women here. They may be domestics or river washerwomen or factory hands.

As a domestic a girl seldom gets more than thirty pesos, or about thirteen dollars a month.

Don't Be a Grouch.

The old Connecticut farmer had the right idea. A group of his cronies were talking at the usual corner store about the best way to die. A great many theories were advanced. Finally the others turned to Zak and demanded his opinion. "Well," said he, "I ain't red-dy ter die jist yit, but if I had to pass in the checks I'd just like ta have somethin' tickle me ta death an die a-laughin'." It doesn't cost any more to be pleased than to be grouchy. But it means a lot more pleasure to all concerned.

Success Secret.

Apropos of the bad effects of business on the health, a millionaire contractor, said in a Y. M. C. A. address in Cleveland: "The bad effects of business on the health of business men is such that I confidently inform all our salesmen that, in order to win infallibly the friendly interest of any business man over forty, the one thing to do is to commence the interview by producing for examination and discussion a box of some new kind of dyspepsia cure."

Serious Waste of Money.

Because of the improper drying of corn a vast amount of money is wasted in the payment of freight. It is estimated that 436,682 tons of water are shipped with corn every year. This would fill 14,556 freight cars of 60,000 pounds capacity, making a train more than 110 miles long.

They are making wedding rings out of platinum because it wears longer than gold. But a ring made of snow would outlast some of the modern matrimonial alliances.

Words To The Wise.

(Advertisement.)

Dry orators and dry newspapers "inform" us that Rockford, Illinois, is a "model dry city." They point in glowing terms to "Rockford's wonderful prosperity under prohibition."

The truth of the damning charge that Rockford is a "model dry town" is frankly admitted. Reference to the dictionary discloses the fact that "model" means an "imitation of the REAL thing."

Rockford has ceased to be damp in spots and is wet all over.

She has closed her legitimate saloons and opened her clubs and kitchen barrooms. She has prohibited the collection of revenue, but has not stopped the flow of liquor. She has taken the bottles off her downtown bars and placed them on side-boards in the homes. She cut off the real estate dealer from his rents but kept right on manufacturing drunkards. Instead of the crime as promised, she has made a prohibition mill for the manufacture of sneaks, thunks and poaches. Fewer Rockford people drink on her streets and more get drunk in the neighboring wet city, Beloit. Fewer people stagger in public and more get woused in their homes. Some victims of prohibition prefer to pay car fare rather than to patronize bootleggers and blind-tigers at home. They frequently drink to excess, because they cannot afford to leave town every day. Money spent in rival cities is forever lost to Rockford.

In view of these facts, the man prevaricates like a prohibition aligator in a wet and dry campaign, who dares to assert that Rockford is not a "model dry city."

Only a short time ago a gentleman while in Rockford photographed in 45 minutes eight wagonloads of booze being hauled away from the interurban depot to be stored in the homes of this "model dry city," and some of it went into the basements of homes whose owners, talk dry but live wet. We would have photographed more but the agent interfered. He took a snap shot of 100 beer kegs in one pile, and got a flash light picture of the main floor and basement of Behr Bros' junk shop containing six car loads of beer and whisky bottles gathered from the streets and alleys of this "model dry city" in 6 months.

There are several other junk dealers who do a big business in empty bottles. The camera, like George Washington, cannot tell a lie.

Photographs of 47 empty store rooms, inhabited only by owls, rats and bats were taken. Blot out all other evidence and these would be sufficient to prove Rockford to be a "model dry city."

The local brewery is doing a banner business. Rockford also has in her "midst" fourteen brewery agencies and none of them are in business for their health. They do a wholesale business in wet goods. When the city had license a working man could buy a drink. Now he buys a drunk.

A queer way to promote temperance!

There were twenty-nine business failures in this "model dry city" in a period of twelve months since "prohibition prosperity" was inaugurated.

On January 11, 1914, the Rockford Star contained the following interesting item:

"There were a half dozen men locked up for intoxication and with the exception of one, none were more than 22 years old."

This also proves that Rockford is indeed a "model dry city."

The prohibition agitator points to "increased bank deposits to prove that Rockford is dry and prosperous."

Wet town can point to a similar increase. This proves nothing for or against prohibition. Besides, Rockford's principal industries, furniture factories, the Emmerson (Brantingham Co., et al., sell their product outside of Rockford. This brings wealth to that city, affords wages to workers and insures a degree of prosperity independent of local conditions.

These customers are wets and dries who live outside of Rockford, but buy her products. Whatever prosperity is enhanced greatly were all the money sent to foreign mail order houses for wet goods, expended at home where it would be compelled to pay wages, rent, taxes, license and perchance light and fuel from local dealers.

By the votes of the men Rockford went wet 1,100 majority. The votes of the women overcame the votes of the men and, by a small majority, Rockford became a "model dry city."

Moral—To prevent like conditions in Paris, vote "YES" in the first square on the ballot.

WERE THESE MEN WRONG?

List of Noted Local and National Men Who Were Distillers.

Were the Fergusons, Clays, Alexanders, Massies, Buckners, et al., Wrong?

(Advertisement.)

It's clearly conceded by history that George Washington was a brewer, Thomas Jefferson was a distiller, Abraham Lincoln owned a retail license. President Wilson has said this month that the liquor business must be O. K'd, that one fourth of the government revenue was raised by the liquor business.

Our forefathers in Bourbon county did not believe that the liquor business was wrong, as we note in the History of Bourbon County that our most prominent forefathers were whisky dealers and manufacturers. Among them might be mentioned: Mr. W. W. Massie, James K. Ford, Jno. Trundle, G. S. White, Wm. Tarr, George W. Bowen, Benjamin Bedford, W. H. Thomas, Samuel Clay, Jacob Spears, Capt. John Hamilton, Robert Owen, Wm. Davie, George Pugh, James A. Miller, Henry Hibber, Charlton Alexander, Wm. Ferguson, W. T. Buckner, Geo. M. Bedford, Thomas Duval, Geo. W. Wyatt, H. C. Clay, Jacob Wilson, John Ewalt, J. S. Shawhan and Samuel Ewalt.

These men were the backbone of Bourbon County and highly respected and substantial citizens. Many of their children and grandchildren of today are enjoying the profits derived from the manufacture of whisky. Are they going to the polls September 28 and repudiate the business of their forefathers? If the business is disgraceful now it was then. We think it is a legitimate business now and always has been. Vote "YES."

THE FIGHT AGAINST THE TOBACCO TRAFFIC.

(Advertisement.)

Our Prohibition friends strenuously deny that there is, or will be, any fight made against the use of tobacco should their fight against the licensed sale of liquor prevail. The following telegram was published in last Friday's edition of the Cincinnati Times-Star, and fully contradicts the assertion of the local prohibitionists:

APPEAL TO PRESIDENT.

(Times-Star Special.)

Muncie Ind., Sept. 18.—The Eastern Indiana Conference of Christian Churches, composed of 350 delegates from Western Ohio and Eastern Indiana Churches, now in session in Albany, by resolution asked President Wilson to continue his efforts to bring about peace in Europe, and ALSO TOOK A STAND AGAINST THE TOBACCO TRAFFIC.

This is only one instance of hundreds of others showing it to be the intention of the prohibitionists to take up the fight against tobacco, should their fight against the licensed sale of liquor be successful.

DON'T ENCOURAGE THEM WITH YOUR VOTE.

THE TRUTH VS. THE LIE.

(Advertisement.)

The prohibitionists, in his zeal for the cause, does not hesitate to deviate from the truth, if he thinks that thereby he can gain votes. As an instance they are circulating throughout the county that if the county votes wet, the entire county will be wet. This they know to be untrue.

The facts are these: No matter if the entire county, or every precinct in the county votes wet, by the law those precincts that are now dry will remain dry. Every precinct in Bourbon county, except Paris, is now dry, and no matter how they vote as a unit in the coming election, they will remain dry.

The only question of the election in Bourbon on next Monday is whether liquor shall be sold in the precinct of Paris. It does not and cannot, according to the law, affect any other precinct. THESE ARE THE FACTS.

INSURANCE PEOPLE DON'T WANT PROHIBITION.

(Advertisement.)

At the meeting of the National Association of Life Underwriters at Cincinnati last week, an attempt was made to put through resolutions favoring prohibition. After some discussion the motion was referred to the Committee of Conservation and Education.

The wise business man knows that attempted Prohibition, at the present time, and under the existing condition of business is a menace to his prosperity. The business man, looks ahead to the future. The fanatical prohibitionists considers only his own selfish views, with no regard for the opinion of others.

DO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY WANT PROHIBITION?

The following results in yesterday's local option elections in three counties resulted as follows: McCracken County, majority of 1,000 wet. Davies County 500 majority for wet. Christian County, majority of 559 wet.

(Advertisement.)

REMEMBER

If the whole county of Bourbon votes "wet" at the election September 28th, it would not effect the precincts in the county that are now "dry." They would remain "dry," and only the precincts of Paris which are "wet" would be "wet."

In other words, if the whole county went "wet" it would not change the status of the precincts which are now "dry." This question has been decided by the Attorney General of Kentucky.

FROM AN OLD TIMER.

(Contributed.)

PARIS, KY., Sept. 21, '14. Editor BOURBON NEWS:

Since the opening of the present campaign conducted by what is known as the "wet and "dry" forces, I have been an interested but silent witness. I have read the many articles on both sides which have appeared from time to time in the Paris papers, and I have studied both sides of this most important question with great care.

I have almost passed the allotted three score years and ten, and with the exception of a very brief interval it has been spent in God's flower garden, the county of Bourbon. I love the State of Kentucky, and its people, who are the greatest on God's footstool. It grieves me to know that some of my well-meaning but ill-advised brothers have seen fit to bring this argument before the people at this time, for it never fails to breed discontent, turmoil and bitterness among people, and very often brother is arrayed against brother, with wounds being inflicted that only years can soothe and heal.

Personally I am opposed to the excessive use of liquor. At one time in my life I was what might be called a "victim," to the habit, but through the help of God and my own efforts, I conquered it. I have not tasted a drop in over twenty years, except in case of sickness.

But I am in no wise opposed to the moderate use of liquor. I am in favor of high license, and the well regulated saloon. But what interests me more than any other side of this question is the subject of taxation. I am a property owner in a small way, and during my long residence in Paris I have seen taxation increased year by year, slowly, gradually, but sure, until it has become a burden to the man with ordinary means, and a positive hardship to the poor. I am opposed to oppressive taxation in all its forms.

I am informed that the city of Paris and County of Bourbon together derive over twenty thousand dollars from the licensed liquor traffic. The total taxes which the Government derives from the State of Kentucky for the manufacture and sale of liquor is an enormous sum.

The President has called for an immediate raise of $100,000,000 in revenue, and it has been suggested by the Ways and Means Committee in charge of the bill to place a heavy tax on liquor.

If this is done and liquor is voted out of the State, then who can tell but that a land tax will be assessed for the up-keep of the government. This great amount of money has got to be raised, and if whisky is voted out of the various States, something else will have to be taxed to meet the deficiency. This is not a time for experiment, but a time for serious and conservative thought.

If your taxes are to be increased, or the assessed tax valuation of your property increased, with all kinds of foodstuff going higher and higher each day, how can the already tax-burdened man meet his necessary obligations?

Upon whose shoulders will that burden of taxation fall? Does it fall upon the shoulders of the employed "foreign" speaker who comes and tells you how to vote? No. He is here to-day and gone to-morrow. The tax indebtedness will have to be met and paid by YOU, the home tax-payer.

We sound this note of serious warning for your careful consideration. Will you heed the advice? As it is to-day things are bad enough, and sometimes it is hard to "make both ends meet." Don't say your vote on election day make them worse.

I thank you Mr. Editor for your kind consideration.

Respectfully,
A BOURBON COUNTY KENTUCKIAN.

The Truth About the Saloon!

If Prohibition does not prohibit how do the Wets account for these figures? Prohibition does and is prohibiting in Kentucky.

The Effect of Saloons on Criminality in Kentucky Cities.—No license empties jails: "The jail doors in nearly every county in which local option prevails are wide open."—From resolutions adopted by Ky. Jailers' Association, Jan. 1908.

Wet counties fill Kentucky prisons. During 1910-1911 the wet counties sent to the State prisons one convict for every 724 of their population. While the dry counties only sent one for every 1882 of their population. Prohibition decreases crime in Kentucky.

Saloons and Crime in Three Kentucky Cities.

Official records of arrests in Richmond, Kentucky: 1906-07 (wet) drunkenness 602; 1908-09 (dry) drunkenness 153, decrease 593.

Somerset's record: 1908-09 (dry) drunkenness 230; 1910-1911 (wet) drunkenness 988; decrease of drunkenness 758.

Record of Marion, Kentucky: Mr. A. H. Travis, the jailer, makes the following statement and gives the figures indicating the change of Marion, the county seat of Crittenden county, when the saloons were voted out of that city. "The last year of saloons I was paid $300.00 for taking care of city prisoners. The first year without saloons I was paid $30.00. Number of arrests for the last six years with saloons and for three years without saloons:

WET						DRY
1901	1902	1903	1904	1905	1906	1907	1908	1909	1909
145	158	215	173	193	174	32	46	20

How no license reduced Harrodsburg crime: "Below you will find the report of the number of arrests made in Harrodsburg during the last four years when we had open saloons, also the number of arrests made each year since:

WET					DRY
1903	1904	1905	1906	1908	1908	1909	1910
366	413	442	411	151	98	123	105

"I certify this to be a true report taken from the records of my office from Penal Dockets Nos. 9, 10, 11, 12. J. HALL GRIMES, Police Judge."

In the face of these facts, how can a man say that prohibition will not prohibit? The above figures speak for themselves. Think carefully and then you will vote Dry. Vote to close the saloons forever.

There will be an ice cream supper at the residence of Mr. W. R. Tuttle at Stony Point, on Friday night, September 25th, at 8 o'clock for the benefit of a church being built in Estill County. Every one cordially invited.

CHANGE OF HOUR.

Imperial Encampment I. O. O. F., will hereafter meet promptly at 7:30 instead of 8:00. Every member of the Encampment is earnestly requested to be present at the meeting Wednesday night, as there will be work in the Patriarchal Degree, on two candidates.

LOOK A LITTLE OUT.

The police have been notified that an impostor has been visiting Kentucky town soliciting subscriptions for a publication called the Interstate Grocer. He has visited several towns, secured cash subscriptions and skipped out without turning in the money. He is about due in Paris, Grocers are especially warned to be on the lookout for this fellow.

PHOTOGRAPHY.

Pictures in colors, etchings, etc., is both my hobby and profession. I point with pride to more than one hundred and fifty pleased customers in Bourbon County, and only two to whom satisfaction was an impossibility. Believing that I am correct in saying that the "Christmas Rush" will be even greater this year than last year, I therefore suggest that you call earlier in the season for all work to be furnished by Christmas. Positively no orders accepted for painted portraits for the holiday after December 1.
(22-1t) A. R. JOHNS.

SUNDAY ORATORY.

Sunday was a day of oratory and the spellbinders drew large audiences. At the court house in the afternoon at 2:30, Clifton M. Howard, of Rochester, N. Y., addressed a capacity audience in the interest of the local option campaign. At 4 o'clock, following the adjournment of the meeting at the court house, Rev. Mordecai Hamm, the evangelist, addressed a large crowd of men only at the Tabernacle on Seventh street on the social evil of the day. At night one of the largest crowds of the present engagement greeted the speaker. The musical program was well rendered by a large choir under the direction of Choirister Reamsey.

NO SERVICES SUNDAY.

There was no preaching services at the Paris churches Sunday morning or evening, owing to the fact that all the denominations united in the services at the Tabernacle which has been erected on East Seventh street for the Rev. M. F. Hamm and his assistants, at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday school was held as usual at all the churches at 9:30 p. m., and communion services was observed at the Christian Church immediately after the Sunday school exercises were over.

The Epworth League met at the Methodist Church at 6:45 p. m. at the Methodist Church. The Industrial Slavery in the Light of Two Standards." The leader was Mr. F. W. Galloway.

Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Mr. Hamm delivered an address at the Tabernacle to men only, which was heard by a large and interested audience. An augmented choir, under the direction of Mr. Ramsey, was an especial feature of these meetings.

RESCUED FROM PERILOUS POSITION.

Somebody's "town cow" becoming weary of treading conventional paths, made a decided departure from the daily routine Saturday afternoon, and, wandering up Second Street, in the rear of the Windsor Hotel, got out on the Louisville & Nashville tracks, and kept going on and on until she became hopelessly stranded between the tracks on the approach of the railroad bridge at the foot of Main street, near the county jail. From a bad predicament she fell into a worse one, in some accountable way managing to get entangled in the heavy wire netting which is stretched between the tracks to prevent coal, tramps and track-walkers from falling on the heads of unwary pedestrians and travelers below. There she remained unwillingly the monarchess of all she surveyed, until a hurry call was sent into the railroad people. The wrecking crew was sent to the scene, and by cutting the wires and lowering "Bossy" to terra firma by means of ropes the right of way was guaranteed to passing trains. The cow disappeared.

Dennis, at their sumptuous home on Sheridan Circle, one of the distinctively handsome residences in the city. Mrs. Coleman, as Miss Moore, a former student at Bristol School here, was one of the prettiest and most attractive Kentucky girls ever identified with Washington society. Mr. Coleman, during frequent visits to his aunt, formed a cordial coterie of friends. He is the only son of Thomas Coleman, the only brother of Mrs. Dennis. Mrs. Dennis entertained at dinner and a thrice party for the young couple, at which among the company were Miss Genevieve Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nelson Riker. There were daily motor expeditions, dances and all sorts of festive times in honor of the happy pair. The Dennis mansion contains a bridal suite, which Mrs. Dennis laughingly declares she always would like to see occupied by Kentucky

JUST IN TIME.

Some Paris People May Wait Till
It's Too Late.

Don't wait until too late. Be Sure to be in time. Just in time with kidney ail. Means curing the backache, the dizziness, the urinary disorders. That so often come with kidney troubles. Doan's Kidney Pills are for this very purpose. Here is testimony to prove their merit. Mrs. B. F. Ball, 718 Lancaster St., Lexington, Ky., says: "One of our family was sick for three months from kidney trouble and a lame back. He had sharp pains in his back and was so lame and sore that he couldn't turn in bed without help. His limbs ached day and night and he often got dizzy. He was irritable and had trouble from irregular passages of the kidney secretions. If the secretions stood for a while, there was a dark sediment deposited. He doctored and tried all kinds of kidney remedies, but nothing helped him until he used Doan's Kidney Pills. Three boxes drove away all the troubles."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Ball recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. REMINDED HER OF YOSEMITE California Woman Not Over-Enthusiastic Over Her First Impressions of Gibraltar.

Some one who was seeing Watkins off the other day made the inevitable remark about visiting "America first." Some one is sure to say that sooner or later, within a week of one's sailing for foreign parts; if not while one is packing, he or she says it on the deck of the boat just before the whistle blows.

That is how it was with Watkins, who was going to spend a summer on the Island of Sark, and who had never been to California.

"No," confessed Watkins, "I haven't seen the—er—what do you call it—Golden Gate? I haven't seen the Golden Gate. But I crossed a year ago with some California people. They told me a good deal about the California climate and how beautiful the country was."

"And," Watkins continued, dreamily, "the woman said something that I never forgot. We were going through the Straits of Gibraltar, and, of course, the whole passenger list was out on deck, staring at the old rock. Our boat didn't stop at Gibraltar—we just went slowly through the straits, and looked out and up."

"The woman from California was beside me, leaning against the rail, looking at Gibraltar, and Algeciras, and beyond to the headlands of Spain. She was mightily impressed by the rock."

"It's magnificent!" she said. "It's wonderful! And what do you think? If I half close my eyes, so that I don't get quite all of it, I can just imagine that I am back home in the Yosemite valley!"

NEEDS THE CLOSEST WATCH

Heart Should Be Guarded Carefully to Avoid Overstraining of Most Vital Organ.

Deaths from heart trouble are reported daily, and they seem to be increasing. The heart and the temper of the age seem to keep in tune. If a man runs to catch a train his heart's work increases by 228 foot pounds a minute. If he is in a hurry getting upstairs, there is an increase of the heart's action by 152 pounds. A rest of half an hour a day would save in a year 219,000 foot pounds of heart work. Every time the heart contracts its force would raise two pounds to the height of one foot.

There is one great duty—to watch the heart. It is weakened by anxiety, excitement, bad temper and violent controversy, as well as by going upstairs or catching a train. It is this exciting and rapid age that is bringing on so many deaths from heart trouble. A person may not see the close connection of these things, but after a while it will come about without his knowing it.—Ohio State Journal.

Real Things in Life.

When I was a little boy, I used to get a great deal of satisfaction out of stroking a kitten or a puppy, or crushing a lilac leaf-bud for its spring fragrance, or smelling newly-turned soil, or tasting the sharp acid of a grape tendril, or feeling the green coolness of the skin of a frog. I could pore for long minutes over a lump of pudding-stone, a bean-seedling, a chrysalis, a knot in a joist in the attic. There was a curious contentment to be found in these things. My pockets were always full of shells and stones, twigs and bugs; my room in the attic, of Indian relics, fragments of ore, birds' eggs, oak-galls, dry seeds and sea-weeds, bottled spiders, butterflies on corks. All the lessons of the schoolroom seemed of no consequence compared with things so full of intimacy, of friendliness.—Robert M. Gay, in Atlantic.

"Let Us Do It Ourselves."

Once the philanthropist set up a drinking fountain; now there is good city water laid on everywhere. In olden times kind-hearted people provided "ragged schools" for the waifs of the alleys; now there are public schools for all. Once the benevolent created funds to provide meals for indigent prisoners in the jails, but John Howard induced the state to feed its prisoners. Time was when the defectives were cared for by charitable groups; now the state provides for these unfortunates. There will always be opportunity for private philanthropy to render signal services; but a democratic society with a proper spirit of independence will not allow itself to form the bad habit of leaning upon the large private donor, but will take as its maxim, "Let us do it ourselves."—Edward A. Ross, in the Atlantic.

Martyrs to Vice.

The martyrs to vice far exceed the martyrs to virtue, both in endurance and in number. So blinded are we to our passions that we suffer more to insure perdition than salvation. Religion does not forbid the rational enjoyments of life as sternly as avarice forbids them. She does not require such sacrifices of ease or renunciations of quiet as does pride. She does not murder sleep like dissipation; nor health like intemperance; nor scatter wealth like extravagance or gambling. She does not embitter life like discord; nor shorten it like dueling; nor harrow it like revenge. She does not impose more vigilance than suspicion; more anxiety than selfishness; nor half as many mortifications as vanity.—Hannah More.

Hats the Cause of Baldness.

Baldness is a matter of headgear. The doctors are fairly well agreed upon that. Men grow bald more frequently than women because of the hats they wear. It is true that women wear bigger and often heavier hats than men, but they attach them to their hair and not to their scalps, hence they permit ventilation and do not constrict the veins, while men's hats, with their hard, tight-fitting brims not only permit no air to enter, but constrict the blood vessels all around the head.

DIARRHOEA QUICKLY CURED

Theories and Things.

Only the other day I listened to a lecturer on sun-spots expatiating on the enfranchising and ennobling power of his science, teaching as it does the majesty of God and his handiwork. I agreed, of course. Theoretically, I knew he was right; yet, as for myself, I could not help preferring to wonder at the hand of the Almighty in the creation of a dandelion, a sparrow, a flounder.—Robert M. Gay, in the Atlantic.

About the time a thoughtful man begins to get an inkling as to what bretelles are the fashion editor opens up new avenues of research by casually mentioning darts, basques and pipings.

WHY WEAK LUNGS?

The toll of tuberculosis is claiming more than 350 victims every day in the United States, yet few realize their grave condition until the critical period arrives. Overwork, worry, weakness after sickness, catarrh, bronchitis, tender throats—all exert the weakening influence that invites consumption. To guard against consumption, thousands of people take Scott's Emulsion after meals because its rich medicinal nourishment strengthens the lungs, puts vigor in the blood, and upbuilds strength to resist tuberculosis. Scott's Emulsion is nature's strength-builder. Refuse substitutes.

FOUND HER INTERESTING MAN

Young Lady Who Had Built Castles in the Air Somewhat Rudely Brought Down to Earth.

Friends of a Worcester young woman are forcing her to submit to considerable good-natured joking about her acquaintance with a youth whom she described as "the most interesting man she ever met." The girl was introduced to him at a recent social gathering and before they had talked together long he had her attentively listening to an account of his travels throughout the country, and his experiences in many different cities. He also alluded to his college life, and before they parted the girl had the idea that she had become acquainted with the son of a millionaire, or some dignitary.

She talked freely about him to her acquaintances, although not mentioning him by name. One day while with a young woman friend, she passed him on the street, and was surprised to see him bow to her companion.

"Do you know him?" asked the girl, very much surprised.

"Sure," the other replied. "He used to be our paper boy. He is now trying for a job on the police force."

The girl was surprised into admitting that he was "the interesting man," and what followed indicated it would be many days before she heard the last of it.—Worcester Post.

FOR ELIMINATION OF SMOKE

Firing Must Be Systematic and Properly Done If Best Results Are to Be Attained.

Smoke is caused by failure to burn the combustible gases that arise when fuel is exposed to the flame. The editor of Power describes these gases as 'a complex mixture of various hydrocarbons, from some of which carbon separates on cooling in the form of lampblack or soot. The smokier fuels also give off tarry vapors, which condense and help to gather the carbon particles into flakes or 'smuts.'

"For the burning of these gases as they are evolved from the coal, three conditions must exist: Air must be supplied above the fuel bed, the temperature must be high enough to insure ignition, and there must be time or space for combustion before the mixing currents of gas and air are cooled by flowing into or among the tubes of the boiler."

Firing coal in large quantities produces so much gas that neither air supply nor combustion space is great enough for its burning. Therefore coal should be put on in small quantities at frequent intervals.

Leaning Tower of Pisa.

This celebrated bell-tower is situated in the city of Pisa, Italy, and was built during the twelfth century by the German architect, William of Innsbruck. It is cylindrical in shape, 50 feet in diameter, 172 feet high, and leans about fourteen feet out of the perpendicular. It is entirely of white marble, and consists of seven stories, divided by rows of columns. The top, which is surmounted by a flat roof and an open gallery, commanding a splendid view of the surrounding country is reached by 300 steps. The tower was not originally intended to lean but the foundation settled more on one side than on the other until it reached the present inclination, which it has maintained with scarcely any perceptible increase for hundreds of years. The upper part of the structure was built in a manner to counteract in part the inclination; and the grand chime of bells, seven in number, of which the largest alone weighs 12,000 pounds, is mounted with reference to counteract this fault still further.

Insatiable.

George A. Birmingham (Canon Hanay), the versatile Irish clergyman, playwright and novelist, was talking to a New York reporter about the American business man.

"I'll tell you a story," he said, "which hits off the American business man well."

"A wife, still young, turned from the window of her sumptuous nineteenth-story apartment and said to her husband:

"George, ten years ago you promised me that when you made a million you'd retire from business, and then we'd travel and enjoy life."

"Here she began to cry. 'You've got your million now!' she sobbed. 'Why do you still keep on working?'

"George, as he hurried into his overcoat, growled: 'Ah, that's just like you—never satisfied!'

Unhappy Bachelors.

The Moors in Morocco maintain that a married man is blessed in this life and goes to Paradise after death, whereas a grown-up man who dies a bachelor does not find the road to Paradise, but will rise again with the devil.

ACUTE INDIGESTION.

"I was annoyed for over a year by attacks of acute indigestion, followed by constipation," writes Mrs. M. J. Gallagher, Geneva, N. Y. "I tried everything that was recommended to me for this complaint but nothing did me much good until about four months ago I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them from our druggist. I soon realized that I had gotten the right thing for they helped me at once. Since taking two bottles of them I can eat heartily without any bad effects." Sold by all dealers. (adv-sept.)

The Lyman Howe Pictures.

—Venice—the City of the Sea—famous the world over for its poetic and haunting beauty, constitutes one of the big features to be presented by Lyman H. Howe at the Paris Grand Opera House on Thursday, October 1, 1914. Throned on her hundred isles, it resembles no other city on earth, not merely because of the perpetual pageant of graceful gondolas gliding through its liquid avenues, but there is something so distinctive in its architecture that must be seen to be appreciated. Here are architectural jewels unsurpassed anywhere else even in Italy. At every turn there is a blending of the poetical and picturesque. The transcendent beauty of the city is rivalled only by the glory of its history—romantic and tragic. After viewing Venice by daylight, the scenes change to the hour of sunset, when the sun, like a cunning necromancer, robs the city in beauty that is imperial and dazzling. Finally they change again to Venice by moonlight. The color transformations from the golden glow of sunset to the enchanting emerald of moonlight in this paradise of pleasure may well thrill heart and mind. The glide along these curving promenades of rippling water lined with palaces, massive columns, marble balconies and sculptured arches all under the spell of opalescent twilight, then under the shimmering rays of moonlight, is to see the Bride of the Sea as a Queen of the Night robed in all her regal splendor. The softness and brilliance of it all is overpowering. As the shadows of twilight fall and the hush of night steals over the scene, the cares of life seem to vanish in the west with the God of Day. In the refulgent light the city seems like a beautiful mirage, enthroned between two seas—the ocean and the sky—now golden at sunset, then silvery by moonlight. And with the vista of the stately palaces and St. Marks in the distance paneled by the mystic light, and gondolas silently floating past in the foreground like barges of gold and silver, the wizardry of the picture becomes complete—a triumphant symphony of earth, sea and architecture, crystallized in stone and glorified by the setting sun until veiled by matchless and magical moon light.

Ben Ali Theatre, Lexington.

—That joyous melange of musical comedy, pretty chorus girls, music of exceptional tune to a certain of stage favorites in the leading roles, Thos. W. Riley's "The Queen of the Movies," which so delighted capacity audiences for six months at the Globe Theatre in New York, and later in Boston and Chicago, will be attraction at the Ben Ali Theatre in Lexington, Monday and Tuesday Sept. 28th and 29th with a matinee Tuesday. Not in many seasons has a musical attraction been received with such favor as that which greeted Mr. Riley's production in New York. The whole thing is a joy and delight and the fun kept at high speed, every second. Such a chorus of loveliness is seldom seen. They sing like larks, dance with dream-like grace and lightness, and wear such stunning clothes that it makes the feminine members of the audience gasp with envy and cause the eye-balls of the male patrons to bulge with wonder and pleasure. "The Queen of the Movies" is essentially a musical comedy, a rollicking girl and music show of the most pretentious sort, filled with rhythmic dance numbers and having as its story the theme of the present day craze for the "Movies" and a subject that lends itself admirably to the travesty with which the production tells us, lovers of clean-cut comedy, laughter, catchy songs, captivatingly brilliant dances, pretty women, music which sets your pulse a-tingling and your feet a-tripping, will welcome the advent of this attraction, the company numbers nearly one hundred people and a gorgeous scenic production, and an augmented orchestra.

Only the "Wets" vote Saturday. If you are "Dry" be sure and vote Monday.

Where Beauty and Economy Reign!

THE "PRUDENT MAN" BEGAN EARLY TO BANK HIS MONEY—NOW HE ENJOYS IT.

A New York theatrical man with an income of $25,000 a year went to Wall Street with $20,000 and tripped it. The EXTRAVAGANCE his family had been used to soon drove him to the extremity of mortgaging property and sacrificing pet securities. Today he is BROKE.
